

Conservation in Pennsylvania

The Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) is a branch of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) that helps farmers and landowners help the land. NRCS offers technical and financial assistance to help people implement environmentally friendly conservation practices on their property.

NRCS's voluntary programs help protect the quality of our rivers and streams, improve soil health and air quality, and preserve wetlands and wildlife habitat.

Working at the local level - in field offices at USDA Service Centers in nearly every county in the nation - NRCS employees understand local resource concerns and challenges. Locate your nearest USDA Service Center and schedule an appointment.
